

To Whom It May Concern:

September, 2014

We have worked with Coy Brown Painting over two years as they helped to create our family compound in Occidental, CA. From exterior painting of a complex and architectural group of structures, to the interior finish details of three on-site residences, they provided the skills, expertise and the experience to tackle all of our requests.

Because the Main House is over 5500 square feet, with domed ceilings of nearly 40 feet in height, it required tremendous amounts of prep time and skillful application. Coy's team took on the sanding and staining of ceilings of the three domed rooms. It was a feat of admirable professionalism. The results were stunning and contributed to our home in the most artistic way. It seemed that whatever we asked of them, they had the experience and the people who could get it done.

In our experiences of building many different homes, we've worked with numerous painting contractors. Coy's local team distinguished themselves by their attention to detail, their on time/on budget performance, and their gentle care of our property as they went about their business through all kinds of weather. They were efficient and their preparation work was excellent. The chaos was reduced by their excellent planning. Coy Brown was always accessible and on-site as needed, and his team members were polite, courteous, and trustworthy.

Our property is a unique one. We asked Coy Brown Painting to partner with us to bring this to completion and they not only delivered, they exceeded our call for attention to detail and skillful practices.
